ANOTHER TANGLE IN THAW CASE

Ex-Gov. Stone of Pennsylvania Pre- dicts that Snow will be Deep Before Prisoner Leaves

Sherbrooke, Que., Aug. 25.—The arrival of William Travers Jerome, Harry Kendall Thaw's old prosecutor, the assumption of Ex-Gov. William A. Stone of Pennsylvania of the position of spokesman here for the Thaw family pending the coming of Roger O'Mara, the Pittsburgh detective, and the injection into the case of renewed talk of wider international aspects were briefly the chief developments of the day in Sherbrooke, the ninth since Stanford White's slayer fled from Matteawan.

If Thaw was terrorized by Jerome's coming, he succeeded in concealing his feelings to all who visited him in his cell. Again he spoke of Jerome sneeringly, calling him "Willie" and insisted that his lawyers re-issue a summary of Jerome's remarks made in 1908, when he said that no one had ever contended that Thaw was insane.

Of the lighter incidents of a day of excitement—exciting principally because of what might happen—was Thaw's show of temper over the fact that his breakfast was ten minutes late and his continued erratic statements relative to the plans for the publicity campaign which he regards

YORK HOTEL MAN LEAVES MANY CREDITORS

In a Note Blames His Wife for His Hasty Departure.

Arthur B. Sewall of York Beach, who for the past two years has conducted the Hastings-Lyman hotel, has been missing since last Friday and it is believed that he has fled owing to financial difficulties as well as domestic troubles. Report has it that Sewall did not go away empty handed, but carried with him about $10,000.

He left a note to his wife in which he states that her actions had aroused his suspicions and that he had been watched by two detectives the entire summer, who he designates as Mr. White and the "lonesome woman." He states that she will never see him again.

Mr. Sewall is a graduate of Dartmouth college, a lawyer by profession, and for a time was the editor and manager of the York Transcript. He is a trustee of the York National Bank.

The news of his departure, when it became known caused a genuine sensation among the townspeople of York. The hotel property at York Beach, ostensibly owned by Sewall, is said to be heavily mortgaged and his financial affairs are also said to have been in bad shape for some time.

Young Girl Has Arm Horribly Crushed at York Cliffs.

Miss Lillian Walker, aged 16 of North Berwick, who was employed in the laundry of the Passaconaway Inn, York Cliffs met with a horrible accident on Monday afternoon while operating a mangle machine. In some manner the young woman got her hand caught in the mangle, and before the machinery could be stopped the greater portion of her arm had been drawn in and badly crushed. She was rushed to the York Hospital where it was found that in order to save her life amputation was necessary above the elbow. The young woman stood the shock very well.

FRIENDLY TONE OF MESSAGE

President Wilson's Mexican Message Will be Read by Him to Both Houses Today

Washington, August 26.—President Wilson will read his message on the Mexican situation at the capitol today. This was decided at midnight, following the receipt of a message from John Lind, personal representative of President Wilson in Mexico that he had said goodbye to Foreign Minister Gamboa and would leave Mexico City today. Negotiations as far as Mr. Lind is concerned have been terminated. The United States will receive any further proposals through Charge d'Affaires O'Shaughnessy of the American embassy.

Washington, August 26.—President Wilson read tonight to the members of the senate committee on foreign relations and the house committee on foreign affairs, Republicans as well as Democrats, the message on the Mexican situation which he will deliver in person to a joint session of both houses of congress.

It is a message of friendship, not hostility, and precedes a policy of absolute non-interference. It proclaims to the world the sympathetic feeling that the United States government and the American people have for their neighbors in the rebellion-torn republic south of the Rio Grande. It records the views of the United

BURGLARS ROB BAKERY IN KITTERY

Safe Was Open and They Se- cure Eight Dollars in Money.

For the fourth time within a few weeks Kittery has been visited by crooks. The latest break occurred on Monday night when the bakery of Louis A. Wagner on Government street was entered. The crooks got in by cutting out a screen and smashing a window in the rear of the building. They were rewarded by $7 or $8 in cash which they found in the cash register and the safe, which was open. People living nearby are satisfied that the break occurred about 1 o'clock as they were awakened at that time by the noise made by the men, two of which they saw prowling around the building in the dark. The break was discovered early this morning by some people passing to the navy yard who notified Mr. Wagner.

MARRIED AT SHOALS.

Star Island the Scene of the Nuptial Event.

A wedding on Star Island is certainly something new for the Isles of Shoals, nevertheless the little stone church on that historic spot was the scene of a very pretty nuptial event a few days ago. The contracting parties were Richard Hubert, 23, of Lynn, Mass., and Miss Catherine Robertson of Attleboro. The bride wore white muslin and carried wild roses. The ceremony was performed by Rev. John Henry Wilson of Wilton, N. H.

The summer people from the islands gathered in large numbers to witness the event which is said to be the first marriage to occur on the island in a period of 50 years.

STATE CLAIMS WILL BE HEARD AT CONCORD

New Hampshire Asks Rights in Government Reserve in Mountain Region.

Concord, N. H., August 25.—Justice Edgar Aldrich of the United States District court has ordered a hearing on an answer by the state in the petition for the condemnation of certain lands in the North Country, in the United States court room in this city on Friday at 10 a. m.

The answer of the state was filed in the first and second proceedings, brought by the government to secure title to land in Coos and Grafton counties for a forest reserve.

The first runs against lands in Low and Burbank, Grant, Jefferson, Hinds, Carroll and Grafton, and the second against the Hastings Lumber Co., and others, the two involving about 67,000 acres.

The answer of the state was the same in both cases, and the position assumed will stand or fall on the decision of the court.

The act of 1903 gave the United States the power to acquire land for a national forest reserve in the White Mountains, gave to congress the power to enact laws for the government of the tract so taken, and reserved to the state only the right to enter upon the territory in pursuit of criminals or for the service of writs and other processes in civil and criminal cases. This act was ratified by the legislature of 1905.

The answer of the state set up rights to all large ponds in the acquired area, the right to establish and maintain fire lookout stations, the right of eminent domain in buying out highways and taking of gravel banks for road construction, the right to grant public franchises, and to collect taxes.

Since the filing of the answers the land owners affected have endeavored to have the governor and council rescind from their position, and a conference was held on the evening of Aug. 15, but it came to naught.

AMERICAN LAND CO 36 Congress Street : Portsmouth BOSTON OFFICE, 444 Tremont Building.

26, 1863, by Rev. A. J. Patterson, pastor of the Universalist church, owing to the ill health of Mr. Fletcher there was no set observance of the event, but during the day Mr. and Mrs. Fletcher received visitations and timely remembrance from many of their friends.

Mr. Fletcher was born in Phillipsburg, Me., April 7, 1812, the son of Capt. Reuben and Hannah Fletcher, being one of a family of thirteen children. After his early education was gained, he learned the millwright's trade in Middlebury. When the civil war broke out he enlisted in Co. K, First Maine Heavy Artillery, and was sent to Fort McClary, Portsmouth harbor. At the expiration of his enlistment he again enlisted in Company K, Captain Joseph Thacher, Sixteenth New Hampshire Volunteers. He saw service in the Gulf expedition and the assault on Port Hudson. After the war he lived in Kittery and New Canaan for a time, but for the past thirty years has made his home in this city.

For twenty-eight summers he was employed as wheel clerk at the Apple-dore, Isles of Shoals, in the winter working as a watchman at the navy yard. He is a member of Star Lodge, No. 1, O. A. B., and New Hampshire Lodge, No. 17, I. O. O. F.

Mrs. Fletcher's maiden name was Nellie M. Carter, and she was a native of York, the daughter of James and Miranda Carter. She is a member of Union Rebekah Lodge, I. O. O. F., Star Lodge of Odd Ladies and Storrs Relief Corps, also the Methodist church.

As the result of the union three children were born, Mrs. Mary Johnson of Boston, Mrs. Walter F. Lackey of this city and George Frederick Fletcher, a water trader in the U. S. navy, now attached to the U. S. S. San Francisco. They have two grandchildren and three great-grandchildren.

A pleasing feature of the day was the presentation of a purse of gold by the members of Star Lodge, of which order Mrs. Fletcher is the oldest living noble lady and at present occupies the chaplain's office.

"The Trail of the Lonesome Pine" is the next big attraction at the Portsmouth Theatre.

The date of King Constantine's visit has not yet been fixed, but Emperor William is anxious to have his brother-in-law as his guest, together with Maj. Gen. King Constantine received his military training in Germany, and has many friends in the German army. His wife, Queen Sophie of Greece, is the Emperor's sister and was formerly the Princess Sophie of Prussia.

TO HAVE EXHIBIT OF DOLLS AT PLAYGROUND

Thursday of this week will be a big day at the playground. This will be the last day the girls from the different schools will compete for the "Three" Loving Cup. The sports will be held as usual tomorrow afternoon at 2:30.

All the dolls are invited to be present Thursday to enjoy the festivities. Those attending last year remember how much they enjoyed the occasion. It is planned to give them fully as good a time this year and undoubtedly it will be made an annual event.

The exhibit of the play ground industrial work at Harvey's jewelry store, is attracting considerable attention. There were so many articles made that it was necessary to select a few of each variety for the exhibit. It has been the aim of those in charge to add something new each year. This year real basket weaving and bead work were introduced. The popularity of the basket and bead work, while being of an artistic nature, are at the same time useful. The clay modeling has this year been one of the attractive features of the work. Miss Potter has been in charge of this branch of the work, having classes there mornings each week during the months of July and August.

Tests Show Increased Power of Nutrition Under Certain Conditions

(New York Times)

When a wound has been inflicted, the forces of nature assert themselves at the site of the hurt and show extraordinary possibilities of growth and repair. Just so, it seems in fasting. If the wounds be not too severe so that certain processes set in, and upon the resumption of feeding the patient rebounds into a heightened state of nutrition. That is the testimony of Dr. Sergius Mor-

If the reader has a "bad back" or any kidney trouble and is looking for an effective kidney medicine, better direct to the remedy endorsed by people you know. Doan's Kidney Pills have given great satisfaction in such cases. Portsmouth citizens testify to this. Here is a case of it:

Mrs. C. H. Macomber, 130 Bennett St., Portsmouth, N. H., says: "I do not believe I would be alive today had not Doan's Kidney Pills come to my attention when they did. I had kidney disease and suffered for two or three years from nervousness and stiffness in my limbs. I often had such acute pain through my back that I was obliged to stay in bed. The doctors gave me all kinds of medicine, but I did not receive any real benefit until I purchased Doan's Kidney Pills at Phillips's drug store. I am glad to say that this preparation brought me prompt relief and eventually cured me. Several years have passed since then, but I still have a high opinion of Doan's Kidney Pills. I have told many other people what this remedy did for me."

Pirate Vlox Gets the Wagerian Habit and Clouts, Steals and Knocks 'Em Down Like Honus

PHOTOS BY AMERICAN PRESS ASSOCIATION

Philadelphia, August 25.—Fans here think that Vlox, the sturdy second baseman of the Pirates, is a second Honus Wagner. From the way Vlox has been playing of late there seems to be a general belief to that effect existing all around the street.

He seems to have obtained a strange hold on the Wagnerian method of batting and base running. He is clutching the sphere nearly as hard as the old master, and on the bases he is certainly like a streak of green lightning. In addition to his offensive playing, Vlox can hold his own on the defensive at the second turn of the diamond.

WIDELY DISTRIBUTED STOCK

If the average man had an annual income equal to the amount the Pennsylvania railroad pays for stamps in mailing his dividend checks he could afford to laugh at the high cost of living. The company's 4,588,000 shares of stock are owned by 84,244 persons of whom 14,215 live abroad. At the last date of mailing 48 percent of the recipients or dividend checks were women. When one considers the thousands of holders of Pennsylvania bonds who get interest checks twice yearly, and the $2,000 stockholders who get checks four times a year, he begins to realize the amount of labor involved in distributing the company's surplus to the creditors and owners of the property.

States on constitutional government. Its unalterable opposition to governments set up by the irregular and arbitrary acts of ambitious individuals, and formally announces that the government of Victoriano Huerta cannot be recognized. The efforts of the United States to bring about a peaceful settlement of the difficulty through the representations made by John Lind special envoy of President Wilson are outlined as well as the answer of the Huerta government.

The United States had proposed that a constitutional election be held and that Huerta should not be a candidate. To these suggestions through which the United States believes peace could be restored, Huerta has replied in the negative.

Message Essential

The delivery of the message is an essential factor in the program of the American government before the world. It is not a preliminary to any drastic measures, however. It is merely the announcement of a policy which will be maintained for years if necessary until constitutional government shall be reestablished in Mexico. The effect of the message it is hoped by the administration officials will be to convince the world of the sincere efforts of the United States to bring about peace and forestall pressure that might otherwise have been expected by foreign governments for a sterner policy toward Mexico.

Having exhausted every avenue of influence on the Mexican authorities, the administration does not feel compelled to intervene by force of arms to establish its views. Every opportunity will be given to foreign citizens to withdraw from the danger zone and strict neutrality in shipment of arms will be observed.

Session Lasts Four Hours

The White House conference began about 8:30 o'clock and adjourned about 11. The President's private office looked a school room.

It was the largest conference held at the executive offices since the present administration began. Secretary Bryan sat beside the President, and the latter read his message.

After the President had finished and listened to a free discussion for more than an hour he asked for suggestions and comments, and nearly everyone present had something to say.

Later the President let it be known that there had been no suggestion that would necessitate any change in his plans, and that unless word came from Mexico City of a change in the situation, the message would be read to the joint session of the two houses of congress tomorrow.

PRESIDENT WILSON WILL READ MESSAGE TODAY

Washington, Aug. 25.—President Wilson made it plain today that unless there was a change in the attitude of the Huerta government within the next 24 hours he would carry out his intention to personally read to Congress tomorrow a special message outlining the policy of the United States toward Mexico.

He will discuss the message tonight at the White House with the entire membership of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee and the House Foreign Affairs Committee.

The message is couched in very kind terms because the President feels that the world generally ought to recognize that the situation in Mexico is abnormal being controlled by a small group of men.

That circumstance the President believes ought not obscure the real feeling of the United States towards Mexicans which is one of generous friendship. The President does not wish in any public utterance to use words of harshness or hostility.

That foreign powers generally are exercising their good offices in Mexico City pressing Huerta to yield to the American proposals, now is openly admitted by administration officials. When questioned today whether such participation by European Governments in the politics of the Western Hemisphere was considered an infringement upon the Monroe Doctrine it was pointed out by Administration officials that the United States did not construe an act of friendship as impairing at any time, the Monroe Doctrine.

It was pointed out also that the activities of foreign Governments were not due to any request by the United States for assistance, but that this Government had decided on a policy of keeping the Nations of the world generally informed of the steps being taken to bring about peace, leaving it to the countries of the world to do spontaneously what seemed expedient.

A copy of President Wilson's message will be delivered to the diplomatic corps here after his reading to Congress. The document is longer than usually has been the case with messages from President Wilson.

When he was asked today to estimate its length, he laughingly told friends he had written it on a new typewriter and could not estimate it, but it is expected to make about 4000 words.

At the White House it was said there was nothing pending, so far as this Government was concerned, which might prevent the President from reading the message tomorrow.

ROOT FOR WILSON POLICY.

Thoroughly Approves of Non-Intervention and Against Free Admission of Arms to Both Sides.

New York, Aug. 25.—United States Senator Elihu Root, who has been in England attending the sessions of the Institute of International Law at Oxford and who has arrived home from Liverpool, said he had not kept very closely in touch with political affairs in this country, and added that his only information concerning the Mexican situation was what he read in the British newspapers, although he admitted he was deeply interested in the question.

"I am entirely in accord with President Wilson," said Senator Root, "in his policy of non-intervention in Mexico. As to the proposition that has been put forward by some that the United States should permit the free exportation of arms and ammunition into Mexico for the use of both sides in the present civil strife I am opposed to any such thing. I am against making the United States a basis of operations in a civil war in any of our neighboring countries."

SCARCITY OF TORPEDOES

Navy Department Desires the U. S. Plant Enlarged or Have Private Makers to Engage in Manufacture.

Washington, Aug. 26.—Discovery by the Navy Department that war torpedoes were not to be had abroad at any price, has aroused the officials to the necessity of either enlarging the navy's own torpedo plant at Newport, R. I., or through subsidies, or otherwise inducing private makers to take up the manufacture of the deadly weapons. Congress, it was announced today, will be urged to supply the necessary funds and an item covering the cost will be included in the naval estimates now being prepared.

Inquiries made in Europe and Great Britain disclosed the fact that all of the Powers are laying in heavy stocks of torpedoes and that the factories are months behind in their work. It was also discovered that every available torpedo has been snapped off the market by the great naval establishments abroad.

As a result of the investigation, however, it was learned that the United States type of torpedo is the swiftest and longest range weapon of its kind in the world. The present type used has an average speed of 27 1/2 knots an hour, and will carry a distance of 10,000 yards in one charge of compressed air.

Farmers, mechanics, railroaders, laborers, rely on Dr. Thomas' Electric Oil. Fine for cuts, burns, bruises. Should be kept in every home. 25 cents and 50 cents.

BOY AND GIRL IN SUICIDE PACT IN A MOTOR BOAT

Rockland, Me., Aug. 25.—A power boat drifting slowly seaward, with the dead bodies of a young man and young woman lying in the bow, was the grim discovery made by Harry Dyer, a Vinet Haven fisherman, this forenoon. The occupants of the death craft were Carl W. Perry and Miss Angie Spear, both graduates of Rockland high school this year, and members of two of the city's most prominent families. No messages were found in the boat or on the persons of the young couple to tell the cause of the tragedy, but the position of the bodies and entire absence of anything resembling a struggle, leaves strong ground for the belief that the two deaths are the result of a suicide pact.

The deed was committed with a 38-caliber revolver which was found grimly clutched in the right hand of young Perry. The fatal intent of the two shots directed at his companion was shown by the fact that one had entered the girl's heart and the other had penetrated her left temple. The revolver was held so close to the body in the first instance that the girl's waist was burned and the flesh was scorched. With the bullet would have proven fatal. The third shot the young man directed into his own mouth with such instant results that he had no opportunity to discharge the revolver again although each chamber was laden with its deadly missile.

When Mr. Dyer sighted the drifting craft near Bay Islands this morning he first thought it was some boat which had become disabled or had broken from its moorings. As he drew nearer he saw the forms of two persons in the bow both apparently asleep. The sleep of death as he was horrified to learn as he came alongside and saw the pallid and blood-stained faces.

With the death craft in tow it was headed toward Rockland where the coroner and police authorities were notified. A thorough examination of the bodies is now being made. Under the direction of Coroner M. P. Jenkins who announced that an inquest will be held. The bodies were taken to the city undertaking rooms.

When the couple left this port at 10:30 yesterday forenoon it was with the apparent intention of making a brief pleasure trip in the outer harbor, and the families of the couple were expecting their return for the noon day meal. That a landing was made, probably on one of the numerous islands in the bay, was indicated by the presence in the bow of a bag of fir this such as are used in filling pillows. That their trip had been a friendly one thus far and that neither had thoughts of facing eternity is indicated by this simple incident. What form of reasoning led to the terrible outcome of the homeward trip is not likely to become known, as the tragedy was without witnesses and without motive so far as known to family or friends. The young couple had been intimate friends through out their school days and among their school friends it was quite generally understood that they were to be married this fall.

Mr. Perry was a son of Mrs. Benjamin C. Perry and was about 20. He was especially prominent in high school athletics, playing on the football and baseball teams during his four years' course and having been captain of both. He was also an expert basketball and hockey player. At the commencement exercises last June he was class marshal. He was first-class coxswain's mate of the Rockland Naval Reserves and made the recent cruise with the Portland and Rhode Island companies on the battleship Albatross.

Miss Spear was the daughter of Mrs. Alice Spear and was about 19. She was a member of the girls' basketball team during her school course

MARINE CORPS ALWAYS READY FOR ACTION

Washington, Aug. 25.—While the United States Marine Corps has not been preparing for any particular emergency, officials declare today that that branch of the service has been made so mobile that on a few hours' notice it could start for any place its services were needed. This applies in general to the entire personnel of the corps, but more particularly to the 1000 marines stationed at Philadelphia.

Of the 9992 marines not counting officers, many more are stationed at Philadelphia than at any other point. The special preparedness of the marines there is due to the "advance base" training. Speed is the element which enters chiefly into the training. A practical demonstration on a large scale of the efficiency of the new organization will soon begin. The old Army transport Hancock for several years a naval receiving ship at New York, is being overhauled, and turned into a navy transport. She will be sent to Philadelphia and some next fall at a given signal the full resources of the "advance base" are to be called into operation.

One thousand marines are to be ordered on the transport which will have been loaded with nonperishable foods, supplies, field artillery, (antiaircraft) medical supplies, even wagons and possibly live stock. This expedition will be rushed probably to Guantanamo.

THE PINK LADY AT PORTSMOUTH THEATRE

The press of this country and England, has in the past two years seen many nice things about "The Pink Lady," which had such a great run in New York, Boston and London, and from the production presented last evening at the Portsmouth Theatre, all of these complimentary notices were based on facts. It is undoubtedly one of the best musical comedies that has ever played here with a wealth of catchy music fine stage settings, pretty costumes and presented by an excellent company.

It is purely a comedy, but unlike most of the big successes, it has more than one song hit. To be sure "Beautiful Lady" is the gem of the score, but there are many others almost as catchy. For instance "I'm Going to be Married in June" "The Girl by the Saskatchewan" "The Kiss Waltz," "Daddy Did, Daddy Didn't" are all equally as clever as some of the hits of other musical comedies.

It was a good company which presented the comedy, with Miss Olga DeBaugh in the title role. She is a clever actress, has a good voice and plays a violin exceptionally well. Miss Alice Moffatt as Angela is an attractive little woman, who was well cast for her part, and who sings very fine. James McElhern as Dandier the antique dealer, did a fine stunt and his comedy was at all times good without being coarse or commonplace. So on through the company, all well cast for their parts.

The cast of characters were: Serpentine Pochett, Elsa Von Hostel, Bestler, Louise Kay, A Photographer, Frank Travers, Pochett, Abbot's dams, The Hungry Man, Mortimer Meyer, Annette, Fritz Smith, Gilbert, Edna Fay, Gabrielle, Violet Strathmore, Raymond, Dick McKnight, Minette, Anna Abbott, Sophie, Gertrude Volks, Yvonne, Emma Pette, Benovel, Abbott Worthing, Julie, May Lorimer, Nina, Mary Brenner, Suzanne, Marie Hehold, Lucien Garidel, Russell Lennon, Angele, Alice Moffatt, Maurice Duzac, Alfred Deery, Beba Gulngolph, Jack Mundy, The Girl from the Saskatchewan, Ruth Strathmore, Claudine the Pink Lady, Olga DeBaugh, George Goodridge, Mme. Dandier, Georgia Harvey, M. Dandier, James McElhern, Theodore Lebec, Frank Travers, La Comtesse De Monlaurent, Lucile Carter, Roulet, Henry Stewart, Dr. Mazon, Abbott Adams, Pan, Frank E. Wright, Waxy, a violinist, Mortimer Meyer.

THE TRAIL OF THE LONESOME PINE

Eugene Walter's dramatization of The Trail of the Lonesome Pine, which comes to the Portsmouth Theatre soon with Isabella Lowe in the role of June, will surely charm you, for all who have read John Fox Jr.'s delightful story of the Virginia Hills found June a most fascinating book heroine. Miss Lowe lends to the character of June a winsomeness that adds to the primitiveness of the wild mountain girl who has made an idol of the solitary pine far up the mountainside and around which the story of the play moves. An elaborate production was made and proved a great success in long runs in New York, Boston and Chicago, which were marked by the largest receipts of late years.

Shipbuilding at Navy Yards.

The secretary of the navy is especially interested in having as much work as possible in the way of shipbuilding, as well as ship repairing and overhauling, performed in the navy yards. Every recommendation concerning the work of repair is scrutinized closely, with a view to ascertaining if it can be done with the regular navy yard force at one or another plant. It is desired as much as possible to provide the navy yards with work in order that there may be an uninterrupted operation of the shops and the steady employment of the civilian workmen. Mr. Daniels has been giving his consideration lately to the question of having another navy yard than that at New York equipped with a plant which will provide for shipbuilding on the extensive scale which exists at Brooklyn. In this, however, he may meet with opposition in Congress, where there is a disposition to have at least a part of the work of shipbuilding allotted by contract to owners of private plants. Of course, Representative Fitzgerald, as chairman of the House appropriations committee, will have much influence in protecting the New York navy yard in any attempt to take work away from that particular establishment, but he cannot be counted on to extend his support to other navy yards, and the shipbuilders may be expected to muster some congressional influence to their own aid. The policy of the Navy Department in giving particular encouragement to navy yard labor is, of course, a shrewd political move, but it is one of those policies which will not bear close examination. If there is any pretense that navy yard operations are as economical as the same work performed under contract it is fallacious. There are, of course, some notable exceptions, but any general navy yard construction of naval ships means a considerable increase in naval expenditures.—Army and Navy Register.

It is to be hoped that Secretary Daniels has the Portsmouth navy yard in mind as the other station to be made ready for big ship building. Portsmouth has the place, the time, and all that it needs is a secretary to put the work here for the men. Will Secretary Daniels deliver the goods?

Going Back to the Farm.

One of the most serious problems that confronts the economic world today is to keep the young men on the farms. For many years there has been a tendency to congregate in the cities, and to such an extent has this been carried that all the vocations of city life have been so overcrowded that today it is well-nigh impossible for a stranger to get a foothold. For every situation there are a score of applicants, and the young man who has no influential friends to render him aid is indeed unfortunate. We have long believed that this condition of affairs would correct itself. One of the reasons that our young men have been so willing to leave the old country home has been the lack of country attractions. This can hardly be said to hold good today. The trolley car, telephone and free rural delivery have well-nigh wiped out the distinctions between city and suburban life. Another powerful factor now working for the upbuilding of the country life is the agricultural college. Our young men are fast learning that farming is no longer the haphazard business of a former day, but is one of the most exacting and scientific pursuits. With this knowledge comes a higher respect for the vocation and a stronger desire to enter the industry. The tide is thus gradually but surely turning, and the time is near at hand when farming will be held in the same regard here that it has long been in England. In that country when a man achieves financial success he at once seeks a country estate for a home.

Here the reverse has long held true, and the city home has been held up as the ideal. This false system of ethics is rapidly going to the wall, and a more exalted idea of country life is taking its place. Rich and poor alike are beginning to take to the farm. It is the ideal spot for a home.

A Good Way to Keep the Boys.

One very good way to keep the boys on the farm is to keep the girls there also. We tire of reading about, "How to keep the boys on the farm." Treat the boys right and they will not leave the farm. Some boys will be benefited by leaving the farm; others will be better to stay. It depends on the boy and the advantages he has.

Insist on Paying for It.

If you should be so unfortunate as to break a borrowed article, insist on paying for it when it is returned to its owner. Put yourself in the other man's place and note how you would like to have a broken article brought home when the borrower makes no attempt to make amends for breaks.

ANOTHER TANGLE IN THAW CASE

an more important than any legal aspect of his case.

The possibility of an international twist in the case came from Ex-Governor Stone, who raised the point that a Canadian, embroiled in the Dominion's fringed immigration law regulations, would doubtless have a right to appeal to the courts.

"Thaw, it has been said, would have no such privilege, no opportunity to appeal should he be ordered deported, except to the minister of the interior at Ottawa. Mr. Stone regarded this as contrary to the treaty between Canada and the United States guaranteeing to American citizens before Canadian courts the same rights as Canadians.

"In my opinion," said Mr. Stone, "the snow will be deep in Sherbrooke before Thaw leaves Canadian soil." None of the contingent of Thaw's Canadian lawyers would commit himself to Mr. Stone's view although conceded that the authority of the dense immigration law—a comparatively new one, had never been tested in the courts. They said that so far as they knew the procedure outlined last week would be followed, that of arraigning Thaw in the superior court Wednesday on a writ of habeas corpus, obtaining his release on the present commitment, making a fight before the immigration board and then re-arresting him to the American lawyers. If Thaw were deported, the management of the legal battle in Vermont.

Mr. Jerome arrived in town about 1:45 o'clock this afternoon. He had come by automobile all the way from Natch, N. Y., whence he departed Saturday.

Mr. Jerome said he had not followed in New England the route taken by Thaw for the reason that he did not know it.

"The question of extraditing Thaw from Vermont," he said, "will rest entirely with the governor. Political considerations enter into a case of this sort. Both sides can present their case to the governor in the form of briefs, then it is up to the governor to do just as he pleases. The relations of states are uncertain in the matter of extradition."

Mr. Jerome spent the afternoon in conference with E. A. Conger, district attorney of Dutchess county, New York, and the Canadian lawyers retained to represent the New York state interests in court. It could not be determined here whether the extradition board hearing would be held in Castleton or Sherbrooke. D. P. Reynolds, agent of the immigration department, said he thought it might be decided to hold the inquiry here in view of the superior advantages of the court house.

Tonight it was said that it would be necessary to take the prisoner in Castleton, a part of entry, and leave the remainder in the so-called immigration shed.

Thaw will, of course, be represented by counsel and will have the right to produce witnesses in his behalf. The questions which will be fought out are whether he is an undesirable alien, either as a lunatic or a person confined in a lunatic asylum within a period of five years, or a person who crossed the border by stealth and misrepresentation.

Norton Mills, Vt., a station about 10 miles southeast of Castleton, is the point tentatively selected for landing Thaw back across the border. In anticipation of this the New York interests, it was said, were buying planes for his immediate detention once he is on Vermont soil, on warrants issued at Castleton.

These charges Thaw with conspiring with Howard Barnum, the old Montpelier gate keeper, and others, in his plot to escape. Whether the Vermont authorities will regard such a warrant as void, inasmuch as Thaw is legally a lunatic in New York, not chargeable with any crime, is problematical.

As a step in hastening his publicity campaign, Thaw gave to the local Sherbrooke Daily today a personally prepared statement. It was in part as follows:

"In Vermont we know that there are good Americans—and that not on my account, but just from downright unrighteousness—they won't allow any testimony to be used against anyone.

"In Mattawamkeag I saw a good deal of an old Vermont lawyer, Arthur Austin. Mr. Austin may have suffered from a mental ailment many years ago but after 1895 he was sane, yet was being kept apparently for life in the most hideous madhouse. In 1911 a friend and I started in and exposed abuses too painful to enter into.

"During these exposures we took out some patients, by writs, and though my influence was too small to help myself it was great enough to help others. Mr. Austin was freed. For several months I gave him employment, until early this year he went out west to the home of his own.

"From Mr. Austin I heard much of Vermont and would be glad to rest there were it not for going to my native state.

"Vermonters have communicated with counsel and me and one thing is sure: No antifer from New York county can pull wool over their eyes. "Canadians of all sorts have told me there is not the least doubt that their immigration authorities, if they should be called on, will arrange for

Ex-King Manuel and Princess Augustina Victoria Prepared For Their Wedding on September 4.

Ex-King Manuel of Portugal is one of the world's interesting young figures, not for anything wonderful that he has ever done, for he hasn't, but because he is a deposed European king. As the official date for the former ruler's marriage approached, Sept. 4, royalty prepared to attend the ceremony. Princess Augustina Victoria, the bride elect, is the daughter of Prince William, head of the older branch of the Hohenzollerns. It was expected that Kaiser Wilhelm and the royal family of Germany would attend. It was planned to have a civil ceremony on the day preceding at the palace of Prince William. The official wedding occurs at the church. One of Manuel's presents to the princess is an old Spanish ring worn by Catherine of Aragon, wife of King Henry VIII, of England. Manuel inherited it through a great aunt.

TURN 'O THE TIDE

The tide flows into the harbor—
The bold tide, the gold tide, the Flood of the sunlit sea—
And the little ships riding at anchor
Are swinging and slanting their
Prows to the ocean panting
To lift their wings to the wild, wide air
And venture a voyage they know not where—
To fly away and be free!

The tide runs out of the harbor—
The slow tide, the low tide, the ebb of the moonlit bay—
And the little ships rocking at anchor
Are rounding and turning their Prows to the landward, yearning
To breathe the breath of the warm, sweet strand,
And rest in the sight of the high hill land—
To hold their haven and stay!

My heart goes round with the vessels,
My wild heart, my child heart, in love with the sea and land—
And the turn 'o the tide' passes through it,
In rising and falling with mystical currents, calling:
At morn to range where the far waves foam,
At night to a harbor in love's true
home,
With the hearts that understand.
—Henry Van Dyke, in 'The Outlook.

CURRENT OPINION

Facility in Divorce
Helps Morality

Marriage is not, as is generally considered, a fiction. Two classes look upon it as such. Churchmen regard marriage as a theological fiction. Lawyers regard it as a purely legal fiction.

That marriage is a biological fact, having its position in nature well prescribed by easily defined terms; that it is much older than and can exist entirely independent of the religious and legal limitations with which some have sought to encumber it, is recognized, I think, by all scholars who search after truth without being blindfolded.

Facility in divorce is a most potent agency in improving the morality in marriage. Formerly anything was considered proper when the man and woman were married. The mission of morality seemed to cease with the marriage ceremony.

Personally I have never known a divorce but was more moral than the marriage it dissolved. I cannot imagine a more immoral and degrading condition for a civilized man and woman to live in that to be compelled to live together when they do not want to.

Of course there are many persons who will agree with this statement and who may well say: "Let them separate. Let them live apart, but under no condition let them remain."

Those who make such statements little realize the forces with which they are dealing. Their blindness or shallowness would be little less than amusing were it not for the suffering which such condition causes. Better informed persons shudder at the consequence of such a practice.—R. DeForest Leach, President of the National Divorce Reform Association.

FOUND GUILTY OF KILLING CHILD

Atlanta, Ga., Aug. 25.—Leo M. Frank was found guilty late today of the murder last April of 14-year-old Mary Phagan, an employee at the local National Pencil Co. factory, of which Frank was superintendent.

All spectators had been excluded from the court room when the jury reported, but a large crowd which had assembled outside the court house received the news with noisy demonstrations which mounted police tried unsuccessfully to quell.

Frank, who by agreement of counsel, had been permitted to remain in his cell in the county jail, was informed of the jury's finding an hour later and heard his fate unmoved, although his wife, who was with him, collapsed.

After listening to the presentation of evidence and argument of counsel for more than four weeks the jury retired at 12:47 o'clock this afternoon.

Shortly after four o'clock it was announced that a verdict had been reached but it was nearly 5 o'clock before it was read by Foreman W. Burne. It contained no recommendation for clemency.

Solicitor Hugh Dorsey, who conducted the prosecution, was the first person to leave the court room. As he stepped into the street he was lifted to the shoulders of several men and carried for more than a hundred feet through the shouting throng.

On account of the demonstration Judge Han announced that he would not sentence the prisoner until tomorrow or later. The judge also was cheered when he left the court room.

Counsel for the defendant tonight announced that a motion for a new trial would be made immediately.

Mary Phagan's body, bearing marks of violence, was found in the basement of the National Pencil Co. factory on the morning of April 27 by Newt Lee, negro night watchman. Lee was arrested. Supt. Frank and several other employees were detained several days later. Among these was James Conley, negro sweeper.

After an exhaustive coroner's investigation, Frank and Lee were bound over to the grand jury. Frank was indicted for murder on May 24. Lee is still in jail, as is the sweeper, Conley.

Frank's trial began July 23. Conley gave the only direct testimony against the defendant, swearing he had stood guard outside the factory office while Frank was alone with the Phagan girl and later helped Frank carry the body to the basement. This negro also charged the defendant with degeneracy. Late in the trial the defendant made a statement denying all knowledge of the crime.

"You and I know that there are boys, and girls too, who crib," writes Walter Prichard Eaton, taking up a delicate but important subject in an article on "The Scout in School," in the September number of Boys' Life, the Boy Scouts' magazine.

"A girl in my case had a geography under her feet covered by her skirt in an examination and kept dropping her pencil. She got 98—and I never had any use for her after that."

"A good Scout will never crib. A good Scout ought never to have any use for a boy or girl who does crib."

"I don't mean that you should squeal on a cribber; there is a better way than that."

"Just let him know what you think of him and just let him understand that he is no better than any other liar; that he has stolen; not money, but a good mark, which is just as bad. Scouts should lead in school in creating a sentiment for honesty, for honor. If you do that, by and by nobody will dare to crib, and you will have brought this about yourselves without turning squealer and going to the teacher."

RYE NEWS

Russell Talbot Elwell, who has been attending a boarding school at Boston, is here on a vacation.

Tomorrow, Wednesday, the Locke reunion will be held at Rye town hall for an all day session. This reunion formerly lasted two days and was regarded as the one event of the summer.

No more fitting place can be found anywhere than this town, the nativity of the Locke ancestors in the New World.

Thursday will be a gala day for our townspeople when the Junior Order of American Mechanics, Seaside Council, No. 20, hold their annual picnic at Rand's grave.

In the morning the order will assemble at the town hall at five o'clock and with the band will march to Rand's grave.

Following their arrival, there promises to be a very interesting ball game. At noon fish chowder and coffee will be served free to everyone by the order and a basket lunch will be enjoyed. After dinner there will be sports for boys and girls, men and women, which includes potato race, handpan race, wheelbarrow race, tug-of-war, 50-yard dash, 100-yard dash, etc. After the sports, the order will march in a body to the hall, accompanied by the band.

However, this does not conclude the gaiety for the day for at the town hall in the evening the order will once more show their hospitality by giving a dance. These dances are the most popular part of the annual picnic day.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Green of Worcester, Mass., will entertain their friends at a clam bake on Saturday, Aug. 30, which will be held on the rocks in front of their residence at Rye North Beach.

The Sunday school of the Christian church will hold their annual picnic at Rand's grave on Wednesday, Sept. 3, and this event is eagerly anticipated by the children.

Many people from this town attended "The Pink Lady" at Portsmouth theatre last evening.

THAW WILL BE DEPORTED TO VERMONT

Legal Talent Getting Ready to Make Fight in Green Mountain State.

Sherbrooke, Que., Aug. 25.—Neither William Travers Jerome, for the state of New York, nor Roger O'Mara, for the Thaw family, had arrived at Sherbrooke this afternoon, and counsel for both sides marked time with further conferences. The general understanding still prevailing was that Thaw would be arraigned in the Superior Court on Wednesday morning on the commitment under which he has been held a fugitive from Multnomah turned over to the immigration authorities and ultimately deported to Vermont. Thaw had a row with the authorities today because his break fast from a hotel had arrived late. It was the worst show of temper since his detention here.

Sherbrooke, not Quebec, will be the seat of the immigration inquiry, according to apparently reliable reports. Facilities for holding such a hearing are far better here than at Quebec and the proceedings could all take place in the court house where arguments in the habeas corpus matter are to be heard.

J. Parkinson of Montreal, connected with the Dominion secret service, reached Sherbrooke today to keep in touch with the case. Stories of Thaw money corrupting courts judges and immigration officials—however all of them so far as anyone can learn—were being discussed in the hotel corridors and on the streets at noon. Ex-Governor Stone of Pennsylvania, characterized all such rumors as "absurd." The law will be allowed to take its course in this case, said the ex-governor. "All we ask for is simple justice."

W. K. McKewen of the Thaw legal contingent, explained this afternoon one of the reasons why they had not yet announced a definite plan of action. "We are waiting for the other side to show the hand," he remarked. "It has never been made clear to us just exactly what the attitude of the Canadian authorities is in regard to Thaw."

The first of the proceedings is to be Thaw's arraignment in the Superior Court here on a writ of habeas corpus next Wednesday. Mr. Jerome more than any other man, was instrumental in keeping Thaw in confinement since the killing of Stanford White. He comes to the case now with a better first-hand knowledge of the whole Thaw situation probably than any other man in the world. As an American lawyer he will have no standing in Canadian courts and this will be taken care of on behalf of the New York State interests, by Samuel Jacobs, a leading lawyer of Montreal. Jerome's greatest value will be when the matter of Thaw's extradition comes up in Vermont, should he be deported there by the immigration authorities. He would also be of great help in an advisory capacity if the immunity question were taken up. There was comment on the fact today that the procedure of first bringing Thaw into court as at present outlined, by writ of habeas corpus, was also the basis of many hearings in the state of New York. In those Jerome was specially retained by the state.

Thaw had a fairly restless night. He is fortunate, as are all those who rush here after his detention, in having clear, invigorating weather. He has taken little exercise, however, unless the nervous pacing of his cell can be called exercise, and his personal appearance is far from that of the neat, young-old man he looked to be at the New York court hearings. A wild rumor floated about Sherbrooke just before dawn that the often-talked-of jail delivery had at last been carried out and that Thaw was again speeding away in the night in an automobile. After the conference of yesterday most of Thaw's lawyers said they would not be around early today, but would try to get a little needed rest. The chief counsel, J. N. Greenshield, spent the week-end at his home in Montreal and returned today.

Having found it useless to argue with him, Thaw's lawyers, headed by J. N. Greenshield, K. C. of Montreal, have brought about a truce in two respects that for a time threatened the publicity end of his case. To Thaw this end has become predominant. He has been told that he is likely to be deported to Vermont after the immigration authorities take him into custody and he has made a request for a list of the leading newspapers of that state.

"I may have some very important statements to give them," he said. Of the conference in which he participated yesterday Thaw said: "My lawyers found me very reasonable but I am still in charge of my case. I am telling them to do the legal work though."

"We thought O'Mara was to take charge of things," was suggested to Thaw.

"Who said that?" he demanded. "I understand everything that's going on."

PAWN GEMS TO SUPPORT VISITORS

Kansas City, Mo., Aug. 25.—People should stay at home and not burden their kin when the high cost of living is paramount with most folks, said Ralph Perry, manager of the Kansas City municipal pawnshop today.

No less than a dozen persons have pledged their jewelry in less than two weeks, according to Mr. Perry because relatives and friends who have been visiting them have caused grocery and butcher bills to mount so high more money was necessary.

"GETS-IT" Is a Wonder for Corns

No Fuss, No Pain, Sure and Quick. Nothing Like It. "Gets" Them Every Time.

You never used anything like "GETS-IT" for corns, before! You're sure at last that every stubborn corn that you've tried so long to get rid of is a "getter." You apply "GETS-IT" in 2 seconds, that's all. "GETS-IT" does the rest. There's no more fussing, no more bandaging, no more waiting to turn the flesh red and raw. No more plasters to get misapplied and press on the corn. No more "pulling," no more pain, no more picking and gouging, no more rakors.

"Nobody Knows How Good I Feel. Corns Are Gone at Last. 'GETS-IT' Did It!"

"GETS-IT" stops pain, shrivels up the corn, and the corn vanishes. "GETS-IT" never fails, is harmless to healthy flesh. Warts, calluses and bunions disappear.

"GETS-IT" is sold at drug stores at 25c a bottle, or sent on receipt of price by E. Lawrence & Co., Chicago.

SLAVERY FLOURISHES IN THE PHILIPPINES

Washington, Aug. 25.—Slavery, in the full meaning of the word exists throughout the Philippines, even to the city of Manila, and conveys a general in the islands, according to a special report Commissioner Dean Worcester has made to the Insular Government. It has not been received here by the War Department, but copies are in the hands of other officials.

Philippines in some parts of the islands commonly capture children and sell them into slavery for profit, some are sent to China, where they are dressed in the native fashion. Some children have been enticed from their homes by slave agents upon promises of scholarships in schools and some in an instance which Mr. Worcester reports in detail were sold, while others were furnished out for money.

He cites the case of a 13-year-old girl bought for some pigs, chickens and a duck. The Supreme Court of the islands released the slave trader on the ground that no crime had been committed because no physical force had been used.

This case, Mr. Worcester says, has blocked other slavery prosecutions. The Philippine Assembly has blocked laws for the suppression of the traffic, he says, because many of its members come from provinces where slavery flourishes. One of his reports on the traffic, he says, lies tabled in the Philippine Assembly.

Mr. Worcester declares he had great difficulty in getting facts of slave cases and intimates that reports were withheld by the officers of the Philippine constabulary. He cites the case of a Philippine Assemblyman caught red-handed owning a slave girl in Manila, and says:

"I could obtain conclusive evidence of a hundred, a thousand, ten thousand of them, but why multiply cases. It is simply a case of time and work."

He charges that Philippine Assemblymen maintain penance on their own farms.

WOULD INDICT TAMMANY LEADERS FOR SULZER PLOT

New York, Aug. 25.—The indictment of Charles F. Murphy, leader of Tammany Hall, Aaron J. Levy, leader of the Democratic minority in the Assembly, and Senator James J. Frawley, chairman of the committee which investigated Gov. Sulzer's campaign contributions, has been requested of the district attorneys of New York and Albany counties by Lynn J. Arnold of Albany an ardent Sulzer supporter.

The indictment of the three leaders is asked on statements of many persons, presented by Judge Arnold to the district attorneys, regarding an alleged conspiracy to put Sulzer out of the Governor's chair. In an announcement, Judge Arnold repeated his declaration that money had been used to accomplish this result.

"If everybody involved in this scandalous plot were indicted," Judge Arnold declared, "the jails could not hold them all."

Judge Arnold who is publisher of the Kalkreuth Press of Albany, appeared at the City Hall today to answer a subpoena issued by the Judiciary Committee of the Assembly. The committee is investigating a charge alleged to have been made by James C. Garrison of Albany, that money was used to bring about Sulzer's impeachment. Garrison was not on hand today and Assemblyman Goldberg chairman of the committee announced that process servers had been unable to find him.

"Inasmuch as Judge Arnold's testimony before this committee is wanted only to supplement or discredit what Garrison said, the committee does not care to place Judge Arnold on the stand this morning," Mr. Goldberg announced. "We don't want to hear what he has to say until we shall have examined Garrison. We will, therefore, adjourn."

SENATOR HOLLI'S CHALLENGED

The nasty remarks made by Senator Hollis in the Senate of the United States brands him as a traitor to his own constituents, many of whom are mill workers who have enjoyed long, happy and prosperous lives working in the various departments of the New Hampshire cotton mills.

The senator from New Hampshire denounced New England cotton manufacturers for taking the highest protection and paying pauper wages, which is only a half fact and worse than a complete evasion of the truth.

Where can we find a better class of mill workers than in the Amoskeag Mills, in the Great Falls Manufacturing Company's Mills, in the Suncook Mills, and in many other smaller concerns whose mills are located in New Hampshire? Labor differences are unimportant, and it is safe to say that more active and retired mill workers in New Hampshire own homes and have money in the bank than in any other textile state in the Union. Yet this man, given the highest political honor his state can confer, addresses the Senate and thus speaks to the entire country, in a way that shows him entirely unfit for the position he occupies.

It is such misrepresentation as was contained in his free trade tariff speech that places the textile industry in a bad light before the people, as the yellow journals pick out the sensational parts and exploit them in black type.

Senator Hollis said "Thousands of adult operatives work for $7 a week and live under wretched conditions; the death rate in our New England mill cities is the highest in the United States." The average wage for men, women and children in New England cotton mills is about $9 weekly. The workers who would not live decently if their wage was $10 a week may in isolated cases "live under wretched conditions" but the great majority live comfortably in neat homes and are care free and happy to a remarkable degree.

The average wage of the mill worker is very much larger than the average wage of the department and retail store clerks and the problem of working dress does not enter the minds of mill workers, while it is the all important question for the department store operative, and so far as good morals and clean living are concerned the mill workers as a class are far ahead of the average in any American industry, and it is unfair and bordering on prejudice in our state to talk as Senator Hollis did about the industry that gave his state its greatest asset.

We cannot believe that the senator believed that he was stating facts when he said: "The death rate in our New England mill cities was the highest in the United States." The great hue and cry in New England is tuberculosis in connection with cotton manufacturing. The mills have been credited with being responsible for this dread disease, yet figures for 1910 when mills had been running in full for years, show how misleading the tuberculosis statements were, as the tabulation below will show:

Massachusetts.	Per cent.
Deaths from tuberculosis of lungs
entire state	18
Full River	13
New Bedford	12
Lawrence	11
Lowell	11
Boston (no textiles)	17
Worcester County (rural)	11
Plymouth County (rural)	12
Cambridge (largely educational)	21

New Jersey	Per cent.
Deaths from tuberculosis of lungs
entire state	1523
Paterson (distinctly textile)	1584
Passaic (distinctly textile)	1004
Philmont (not textile)	1703
Summit (not textile)	20
Orange (not textile)	261
Princeton (largely educational)	215

The percentages shown above are certainly appreciable to all of New England, and would show less if all states were included.

The cotton mills of New Hampshire employ over 28,000 hands in nominal times, and probably no textile state can show as large a percentage of native help in cotton mills as New Hampshire, yet the junior senator from that state misleads the country and misrepresents his constituents in his assault upon New England's leading industry.

LARGE EGGS IN CHINA

Those of South Manchuria Average 5 to 7 to the Pound, and 6 is Common—Hens of No Particular Breed and Without Care.

China has long been known as an egg-producing country and from time to time the possibility of shipping eggs to the United States has been discussed mainly with reference to south and central China. Manchuria does not seem to figure in these calculations yet if the testimony of tourists and residents of China is reliable the best eggs are to be had in that region at least in south Manchuria. I have frequently heard visitors remark that the eggs served in south Manchuria are twice as large as those of south China and I have investigated the size of the eggs sold here. The hardy hens of this region lay eggs that average according to the hen, from five to seven to the pound, and six in the pound is common and usual.

It may be of interest to breeders and egg farmers in the United States to know that I have seen within the past week eggs weighing over four ounces, produced by an ordinary hen of no particular breed fed on corn and kept in a confined inclosure. The fowl referred to is a black hen, of no particular breed, but resembling a Langshan. She lays an egg weighing four ounces or over at least every day for a week or ten days, when there occurs an interval of two or three days during which no eggs are laid. The smaller eggs average six to the pound. The shell is brown, with a circle of dark spots near one end. Other hens bought in the market average six eggs to the pound with white or brown eggs, there being no standard, of course. What these hens could do if fed and cared for scientifically cannot be told, but they should do wonders.

It is common to buy from Chinese eggs that will average six to the pound though smaller ones are also plentiful but the Chinese business is not yet understood by the Chinese and the hens get practically no care or attention. They forage and care for themselves. They get little protection from a temperature frequently falling below zero and occasionally to ten degrees or even twenty degrees below zero.

The largest eggs I have seen here averaged four to the pound some being slightly below four ounces, and others slightly over, some even four and one-quarter ounces. There were from a hen kept by a man in Antung, whose hens get more attention and better food than the Chinese-kept hens. The best hen referred to was bought in the market for killing, but escaped that fate and has established a local record. It might be possible to improve the size of American eggs by the introduction and careful breeding of some of the fowls referred to, if American poultrymen are interested. I believe seven eggs to the pound is the highest American average.

The flavor of eggs bought from local Chinese farmers is often poor and sometimes objectionable, but this is undoubtedly due solely to the character of the food the hens consume for lack of better, as they receive practically no attention from their owners.

Washington, Aug. 25.—President Wilson does not regard the objections raised by the Chicago conference of bankers as representing the view of the rank and file of bankers throughout the country. The President told callers he had received expressions of hearty support for the administration bill not only from business men generally but from the rank and file of bankers throughout the country, and would not compromise on its essential features.

AT A FIRE PANIC

Some Advice To Boys on How to Behave in Excited Crowd

(George D. Porter, Director of Public Safety, Philadelphia, in Boys' Life Magazine.)

Very often boys seem to be present at fires and public assemblies when a cry of fire is given. Sometimes a great number of boys are lost when there is little or no fire, because people crush and trample each other on the floor in their excitement.

It is natural impulse of all to get away from immediate danger, and to get out of the building. Everyone rushes for the doors the doors become blocked with human wedges and the result is that few people get out and many are injured or killed in the attempt.

In cases of this kind a few calm people can do much good. Anything that will calm the crowd and take their minds away from the supposed danger should be done. If you have anything to do with the exhibition a performance, it is possible to continue the program and keep a part at least of the audience, from rushing to the doors.

A few persons reassuring people to different parts of the crowd of this kind can prevent a panic. A few excited persons sprinkled through the crowd can soon turn it into a selfish mob, where each one is looking out only for himself.

Try to calm the most excited people first. Quiet them down and try to keep them from pushing and crushing other people.

In such a crowd women and children should be given preference. Remember yourself and try to make others realize that even in the greatest danger nothing can be gained by yelling and crying and pushing. When people push they pack the exits so tight that nobody can get out. Going just a little more slowly and quietly means getting out just a little sooner.

ART CONFERENCE AT GREEN-ACRE An art conference with sample forms of handwork will be held at Greenacre under the leadership of Mr. Arthur Day of Columbia College at 3:30 o'clock Monday afternoon. Artists and educators will contribute to the interest of the occasion and a cordial invitation is extended to all.
